

Population Level Results

Define your community (neighborhood, city, state, region): _____

1. For this defined community, complete the following statements:

We want children who are...
We want youth who are...
We want families who are...
We want older adults who are...
We want our community to be...

2. Turn your answers above into results statements:

 1.
 2.
 3.
 4.
 5.

3. Select one result from above. In your community, how would people experience this result?

4. List potential indicators that could measure your community's achievement of this result and prioritize:

Potential Indicator	Comm. Power	Proxy Power	Data Power
 1.
 2.
 3.
 4.
 5.

Data Development Agenda:

Result: Youth are Ready for College, Work and Life

Headline Indicator: HS Graduation Rate (as measured by freshman graduation rate)

Source: Common Core of Data, Center for Education Statistics

The story behind the baseline:

What are the top 3 root causes/contributing factors?

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

Who are the key partners with a role to play in turning this curve?

What works: Our most off-the-wall idea is:

1. _____

What works: One low-cost/no-cost idea is:

1. _____

Strategy: Top two recommended strategies to improve this indicator:

1. _____
2. _____

Program and Service System Performance Measures

1. Who are your customers?

2. In the box below, complete each quadrant by answering the questions in the box:

How much do you do? (Q1) # of customers served: _____ # of activities/services: _____	How well do you do it? (Q2) Common measures of quality: _____ _____ Quality measure for each activity: _____ _____
Is anyone better off? - # (Q3):	Is anyone better off? - % (Q4):

3. In Q2 and Q4, circle the measures for which you have good data.

- a. Of the measures that are circled in Q4, select only one of these measures to “tell the story” of your initiative in terms of customer results.
Headline “better off” performance measure: _____
- b. Of the measures you have circled in Q2, select one to “tell the story” of your initiative in terms of the quality of services.
Headline quality performance measure: _____

